EASLEY APPOINTS MEMBERS TO AERONAUTICS COUNCIL

RALEIGH – Gov. Mike Easley appointed five new members and reappointed three members to the Aeronautics Council.

Easley appointed Anna M. Lore of Fuquay-Varina, government relations representative for Duke University Health System; David C. Barker of Lumberton, self-employed appraiser and owner of Barker and Associates; David B. Hamilton of Charlotte, partner with Hamilton Gaskins Fay & Moon PLLC; Edward Douglas Parks of Fayetteville, owner of Parks Building Supply; and Larry D. Wagner of Raleigh, retired deputy director of the Medicaid Investigations Division of the Department of Justice.

Easley reappointed Melton W. Mullinix, Sr. of Richfield, retired as vice president and general manager Young Stone Company; Jack L. Dellinger of Lincolnton, co-founder, vice president and general manager of Sandtane Gas Co; and Dudley Humphrey of Winston-Salem, attorney with Kilpatrick Stockton.

The Aeronautics Council advises the secretary of transportation in the issuance of loans and grants to the cities, counties, and public airport authorities of North Carolina. The council is responsible for planning, acquiring, constructing, or improving all airport facilities and any matter relating to airports in North Carolina. The council has 15 members, each appointed by the Governor. The members serve four-year terms.
